Providing Access to the Register

1. I am a trustee, trust employee, advisor, or agent, how do I give a designated person access to a trust on the Central Register for due diligence purposes?

The trustee, employee, advisor, or agent that registered the trust on CRBOT can generate an Access Number. The Access Number and the Trust Registration Number will allow designated persons with access to CRBOT to undertake due diligence on the trust.

1.1 How do I generate an access number?

The registered trust can be accessed via 'Trust Register Functions' on ROS (Figure 1).

- Click on the relevant trust that you want to provide access to.
- Enter 'Presenter Details'. Note this may be saved from before (see red box in Figure 2).
- Select "Generate New Access Number" (see Figure 3).
- The Access Number has an expiry date of 14 days.
- The expiration date will be displayed when the number is generated. Designated persons should be advised of the expiry date associated with an Access Number.
- Please note only one access number can be issued at a time.

If a designated person wishes to request access to minor information, they need to submit the following 'CRBOT Minor Information Access Request Form'. This form is available in our 'Forms & Guidance Material for CRBOT' section here and must be submitted via MyEnquiries.

Getting Access to the Register

3. I am a designated person. How do I access CRBOT in order to carry out due diligence on a trust?

A trustee of the trust or their representative must provide you with an Access Number and the Trust Registration Number. These details will allow the designated person to view the beneficial ownership details of the registered trust.

Currently, the Access Number is valid for fourteen consecutive days. Designated persons can confirm the expiry date with the trustee or representative (if applicable).

3.2 Can the access period be extended?

The access number provided cannot be extended, however when the number expires another number can be generated.

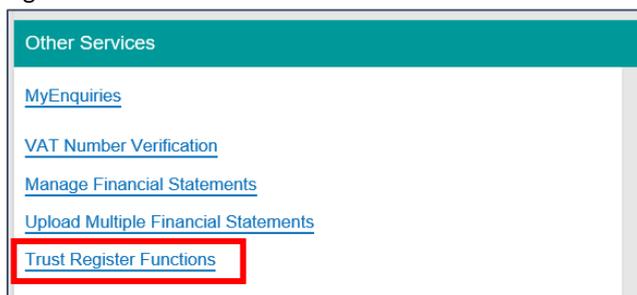

3.3 I am a designated person and have been given an access number. How do I view a trust on CRBOT?

On ROS, under "TAIN Services" tab, go to "Other Services" and select "Trust Register Functions" (see Figure 4). There will be an option to "Verify Trust Details" (see Figures 5 & 6). The Beneficial Ownership information will be viewable and printable (Figure 7 & 8).

To Verify a Trust, you will need:

Discrepancy Notice

4. What is regarded as a discrepancy for the purposes of inspecting the trust register as a designated person?

Where a trust enters into an occasional transaction or forms a business relationship with a designated person, and in the course of undertaking due diligence, the designated person forms the opinion that there is a discrepancy between the trust's internal register & CRBOT, on the following Beneficial Owner particulars:

- a) the name, birth month/year, nationality, and country of residence or
- b) the statement of the nature and extent of the interest held, or the nature and extent of control exercised then the designated person shall deliver, in a timely manner, to the Registrar, a notice of that opinion, specifying the particulars of the discrepancy.

4.1 Can a de minimis approach be applied to discrepancy reporting obligations² for designated persons, to allow the exclusion of ancillary items such as slight name variations etc?

The Beneficial Ownership information (name, DOB, address, nationality & nature/extent of interest/control) on CRBOT and the trust's beneficial ownership register is centred on identification of the Beneficial Owner and accurate data on the control and interest.

Where an Irish version of a name is used this name must correspond to what has been entered in the internal register. If different language versions of a beneficial owner's name are found between the internal register and CRBOT then this would be regarded as a discrepancy.

4.2 How are discrepancies reported to the Registrar?

A 'CRBOT Discrepancy Notice Form' must be completed and submitted via MyEnquiries on ROS or myAccount. This form is available in our 'Forms & Guidance Material for CRBOT' section here.
