

Ozone Depleting Substances (ODS)

Document last reviewed August 2018.

Contents

1. Introduction	3
2. Legislation	3
3. Action To Be Taken	3
4. Risk Information Form	3
5. Contact Details.....	4

1. Introduction

Council Regulation (EC) 1005/2009 governs the importation and exportation of certain chemical substances known as ozone depleting substances (ODS). In general, the import and export of ODS is prohibited however some ODS may be imported or exported where the European Commission has granted a licence to the importer or exporter.

In Ireland, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is the competent authority with responsibility for the enforcement of this legislation. Revenue assists the EPA by the application of controls at importation and exportation.

2. Legislation

Council Regulation \(EC\) No. 1005/2009

Customs Act 2015

3. Action To Be Taken

The EPA has requested that imports or exports of certain ODS be flagged on the Customs AEP system. For this purpose profiles have been entered onto AEP. When a profile is activated the following steps should be taken:

- Consult the EU ODS database to validate the licence for the consignment in question. See Accessing ODS Database Section below.

Where there are no corresponding licence details on the ODS database, detain the consignment and contact:

Prohibitions & Restrictions Unit
Corporate Affairs & Customs Division
Dublin Castle
rcpr@revenue.ie
Tel: 01 - 6744329

If staff have a suspicion that ODS are being imported or exported in contravention of Regulation 1005/2009, the consignment should be detained and Prohibitions & Restrictions Unit should be contacted.

The following material is either exempt from or not required to be published under the Freedom of Information Act 2014.

[...]

4. Risk Information Form

The Risk Information Form (RIF), which is part of Customs Risk Management System (CRMS) should be used by staff to inform other EU Customs authorities of any irregularities which have come to light in respect of the import or export of goods in contravention of Council Regulation 1005/2009. For further information staff should contact:

Helen McGuinness 01 - 6744330

Aoife Trundle 01 - 6774313

Email: customsriskunitgroup@revenue.ie

5. Contact Details

Queries on this manual can be directed to:

Prohibitions and Restrictions Unit
Corporate Affairs and Customs Division
rcpr@revenue.ie

01 - 6774329