4.1 Customs Offences

The Customs Consolidation Act, 1876 (CCA) contains the primary enforcement legislation for dealing with Customs offences arising from importation into the State from a third country or, in the case of goods subject to restriction or prohibition, from any country. The Customs Act 1956 contains the primary enforcement legislation relating to exportation. The main offences likely to be encountered are detailed below.

Note 1: VAT on the intra-community acquisition of a new means of transport

VAT is payable in the intra-community acquisition of a New Means of Transport (NMT)* by a person in the State not entitled to VAT deductibility.

The provisions governing such payment are contained in the VAT Act, 1972, sections 2 (1A); 19(1A) and 19(4) and also in S.I. 248/1993 [Value-Added Tax (Payment of Tax on Intra-Community Acquisition of certain NMT's) Regulations 1993].

The following are the main provisions:

VAT on an NMT which is a motor vehicle:

- Once a vehicle is designated as an NMT in the Member State of supply, VAT must be paid or accounted for in the State irrespective of when the vehicle is declared for registration.
- Except where the acquirer is entitled to a deduction under section 12, VAT Act, 1972, VAT is payable at time of registration for VRT purposes (i.e. not later than 30 days following arrival of the vehicle in the State) or where registration of the vehicle is not required, by the 15th of the month following acquisition.
- Where VAT has not been paid, the vehicle is liable to seizure under S. 27 A (21), VAT Act 1972, inserted by Schedule 5, Part 3 Finance (No 2) Act 2008.
- NB – Officers should note that the VAT detention and seizure provisions listed on current authorisation cards - Section 27(9A) VAT Act 1972 - have now been repealed. A new authorisation is required for the use of the replacement Section 27A detention and seizure powers introduced by the Finance No. 2 Act 2008. Officers should refrain from using the new powers pending the issue of these authorisations.
- The main offence is S. 1078 2 (i), T.C.A. 1997.

VAT on a NMT which is a vessel or aircraft:

- Except where the acquirer is entitled to a deduction under section 12, Vat Act 1972, the person shall complete the form approved by Revenue and provide supporting documents [Art. No. 4 of S.I. No. 248/93]
- The completed form and supporting documents with the due amount of tax shall be furnished, not later than 3 days after the due date, to the Collector of C & E in the area where the person resides and make the vessel/aircraft available for inspection in the State [Art No. 4 of S.I. no 248/93]
- The due date for payment of the tax is the 15th of the month following the month of intra-community acquisition or the date of issue of the invoice by the supplier in the OMS, whichever is the earlier [S. 19(1A) of the VAT Act, 1972 (as amended)].
- Where the VAT has not been paid, the vessel or aircraft is liable to seizure under S27A(21), inserted by inserted by Schedule 5, Part 3 Finance (No 2) Act 2008
- The principal customs offences and enforcement provisions applicable to failure to pay VAT in these situations are highlighted at Part 3.11 (page 42) and 4.1 (page 3) of this Manual.

* "New means of transport" means motorised land vehicles with an engine cylinder capacity exceeding 48 cubic centimetres or a power exceeding 7.2 kilowatts, vessels exceeding 7.5 metres in length and aircraft with a take-off weight exceeding 1,550 kgs

- (a) Which are intended for the transport of persons or goods, and
- (b) [(i) which in the case of vessels and aircraft were supplied three months or less after the date of first entry into service and in the case of land vehicles were supplied six months or less after the date of first entry into service, or
- (ii) which have travelled 6,000 kilometres or less in the case of land vehicles, sailed for 100 hours or less in the case of vessels or flown for 40 hours or less in case of aircraft,

Other than vessels and aircraft of the kind referred to in paragraph (v) of the Second Schedule]. (Section 1, VAT Act 1972, as amended.)

Note 2: VAT on Third Country imports

The legal powers listed in Part 4.1 above also apply to import VAT. Section 15(6), VAT Act, 1972 is legal basis for applying the Customs Acts to VAT as if it were a duty of Customs. In practice, Customs Offences involving import VAT alone are unlikely to lead to Customs enforcement action where the importer is a registered trader. In these circumstances, the import VAT is a redeemable input tax and any liability arising from subsequent disposal of the goods is not a Customs matter.

Note 3: Prohibitions and restrictions on importation

These may range over a wide area and can be imposed for a variety of reasons. In certain circumstances more than one prohibition may apply to the same goods. For example, some animals may have both a health and CITES prohibition. Compliance with only one of these is insufficient for legal importation. In other cases prohibitions may be seasonal in practice. For example, textiles may have quotas for imports from specified countries. If the quota becomes exhausted during the quota period subsequent imports are prohibited until a new quota period begins. During a valid quota period imports are restricted to goods for which a valid quota licence has been issued.

A Table of prohibitions and restrictions was originally included in Section 42, CCA and these were prohibited goods referred to in Section 186 of that Act. However, Section 2, Customs Act, 1956 provided that any goods prohibited or restricted under any enactment were deemed to be included in this Table and, therefore, Section 186 offences apply to all prohibited or restricted goods. The text of Sections 2 & 3 the Customs Act 1956 is reproduced at Appendix 3.

Many prohibitions are related to the country of origin of the goods. In such cases evasion may take the form of misdescription of the nature and/or origin of the goods. Although the object may be to circumvent a prohibition it should be borne in mind that the effect of such misdescriptions may also have a fiscal impact.

It should be noted that some prohibitions and/or restrictions may also apply to Intra-community trade. The most common of these, outside of narcotics, are:

- Explosives
- Firearms and ammunition
- Obscene videos, books etc. (Public morals)
- Certain animals and animal products (prevention of Rabies and B.S.E.).

4.2 Excise Offences: Excisable Products.

Council Directive 92/12/EEC introduced an EU regime covering the holding, movement, and control of excisable products within the Community. The national enabling legislation is contained in Sections 96 to 117 of the Finance Act 2001.

Council Directive 92/12/EEC applies to intra-Community movements of excisable products which are under duty suspension arrangements or to excisable products which are released for consumption, having been duty paid, in another Member State of the EU. They do not apply to excisable products obtained in duty-free retail outlets or to excisable products imported from third countries which are not in free circulation within the Community.

The offences associated with the movement of excisable products relate to:

- importation
- exportation and
- fraudulent exemption or repayment/remission claims.

They also relate to illegal production, processing and holding of excisable products which are set down in the Finance Act 2001 (warehousing) and in Mineral Oil Tax, Excise Duty on Tobacco Products and Alcohol Products Tax law.

Details of the main offences are outlined on the following page.

Guidelines for investigating whether Excisable Products were acquired for commercial purposes.
(contrary to S. 119, Finance Act 2001)

Under Section *104(2)(a) of the Finance Act 2001, a private individual is entitled to acquire duty-paid excisable products in another member state and to transport them into the State provided (a) they are for his/her own use and not for commercial purposes and (b) the individual concerned travels with the goods. Article 25 of S. I. No 443/2001 (as exercised under the powers conferred in S. 153 of the Finance Act 2001) sets out the guideline limits and criteria whereby products may be regarded as being acquired for commercial purposes. A copy of Article 25 and the guideline quantities is at Appendix 9.

Quantity alone cannot determine that the acquisition is of a commercial nature except in those cases where sufficient inferences can be drawn from such quantity and in the absence of an acceptable alternative account or reason. Accordingly “own use” can be taken as applying to private individuals and their families generally and to a wedding, birthday party or anniversary etc. which the individual in question would be responsible for providing at his/her own expense.

In order to support a successful prosecution case, it must be demonstrated that there was sufficient evidence that the products were acquired for a commercial purpose. To do this the following information, which is not exhaustive, should be sought when questioning a suspect following a detection:

- The reason for possession of the products. If the person claims that they are for a particular function, details should be obtained (including when and where the function is to be held).
- The suspect’s occupation.
- Whether s/he previously imported such products and, if so, the frequency of such imports.
- The frequency with which s/he travels to other Member States.
- If regularly, why a purchase of a considerable quantity was made on one trip.
- The composition of his/her family and whether adult or juvenile.
- The method of payment for the products.
- Where the goods were purchased and ask for copies of receipts, if available. The purpose here is to get evidence that the goods have been released for consumption in OMS. In the absence of receipts. Evidence of the markings on the products will have to be obtained and a sample will probably have to be shown to a witness from the manufacturer, who would subsequently have to give evidence in Court.
- Depending of his/her means the source of the funds.
- His/her normal consumption per day or week of such products or the consumption of family members.

A caution under the Judges' Rules is not essential prior to asking the above question although obviously such a necessity may arise in the course of the interview (see Parts 2.5 & 2.6 of this Manual). If the detecting officer believes that the acquisition was for a commercial purpose (i.e. an offence under S. 119, F.A. 2001), then such belief should be put to the suspect who should be asked to comment on it or on any particular matter giving rise to that belief.

*The provisions of S. 104(2)(a) do not apply in the case of tobacco products released for consumption in the 10 new Member States with the exception of Cyprus and Malta with effect from 5th May, 2004 by virtue of S. 46 F.A. 2004 and S.I. 201 of 2004.

4.3 Excise Offences: VRT

VRT offences can be divided into four broad categories:

1. Offences connected to registration/payment of VRT;
2. Offences committed specifically by persons authorised under S. 136, Finance Act 1992;
3. Offences associated with Vehicle Registration Certificates, declarations etc and
4. Offences involving fraudulent repayment claims.

The following table sets out the more common offences, which arise under each category and indicates the legislative basis for each offence as well as the penalties applicable. Where the penalty includes a forfeiture provision (as shown in the third column below), the vehicle concerned may be seized by an authorised officer under S. 141, F.A., 2001:

19. Fraudulent VRT Repayment Claims Where a fraudulent repayment claim is detected, the question of proceedings being taken under S. 1078 Taxes Consolidation Act 1997 should be considered. Likewise, under the Disabled Drivers/Passengers Scheme, commercial use of the vehicle (i.e. in addition to its use in transporting the disabled person) may not necessarily disqualify in certain circumstances. 4.4 Excise Offences: Excise Licences

Under excise legislation, persons carrying on certain activities are required to hold and excise licence. Bookmakers are subject to the additional requirement to register their premises. Certain other premises also require authorisation e.g. premises where gaming machines are operating require a Gaming licence and, similarly, an amusement machine permit must be held for premises operating amusement machines. Trading without an excise licence is an offence and the following table sets out the main offences which arise. The table also indicates the legislative basis for each offence as well as the penalties applicable:

4.5 Excise Offences: Betting Duty

The offences which can arise in relation to the evasion or non-payment of betting duty by bookmakers are set out in the following table:

4.6 Excise Offences: Tobacco Tax Stamps

Tax Stamps have been introduced as the means for charging excise duty on certain tobacco products. Cigarettes and Roll Your Own tobacco products which are liable to excise duty in the State are required to have a duty paid tax stamp affixed to the pack by the manufacturer (except, of course, tobacco products held under an approved duty suspension arrangement e.g. transit, in warehouse or released for consumption in another Member State). The law governing tax stamps offences is contained in Section 78 of the Finance Act, 2005. The offences which arise in relation to tobacco tax stamps and the penalties which apply are detailed below.

Offence	Offence Section	Penalty
1) Inviting an offer to treat for (i.e. having on display) 2) Offering for sale 3) Keeping for sale or delivery 4) Being in the process of delivery tobacco products which do not have tax stamps affixed appropriate to the type and denomination of the pack concerned. Note: Offences involving tobacco tax stamps are offences under the law relating to excise.
